CONGRATULATIONS

to our students who did the FLYERS exam.

November 20th was pyjama day. Some students came to class wearing their pyjamas so that teacher Paula wouldn't feel alone 😊

It is clear that the car has a very important role in our society and in the way that we live. But did the invention of the car change the world?

In the first place, cars have changed our habits and our daily life. With a car, it is easier to get to work, home or wherever we want to go. Not to mention the Comfort that exists when travelling by car rather than by public transport.

We should also bear in mind that this means of transport forced cities to change in order to create conditions for so many cars to circulate. As a result, more roads were created, as well as parking lots.

I am convinced that the car has changed the world in many ways. All we have to do is look back in time and look at how things were before.

One day, um grandson came to spend a few days with me at the campsite in Vila do Conde.

We were sleeping and in the middle of the night he woke up very scared. I was fast asleep but I woke up with his screams.

He was saying that the pool water was full of snakes and that he couldn't go there in the morning. I calmed him down and told him it was only a bad dream.

We had a cup of tea and we fell asleep again.

In the morning, we heard the announcement that the pool water had a lot of microbes and that the pool would not be opened during the day.

I couldn't find words to calm my grandson down!

He looked at me and told me he would always believe in his dreams from that day on.

Not a hobby - a passion

I have no memory of when I started to love watching movies. I just remember that I was very little. It was a way that my parents found to keep me entertained and relaxed.

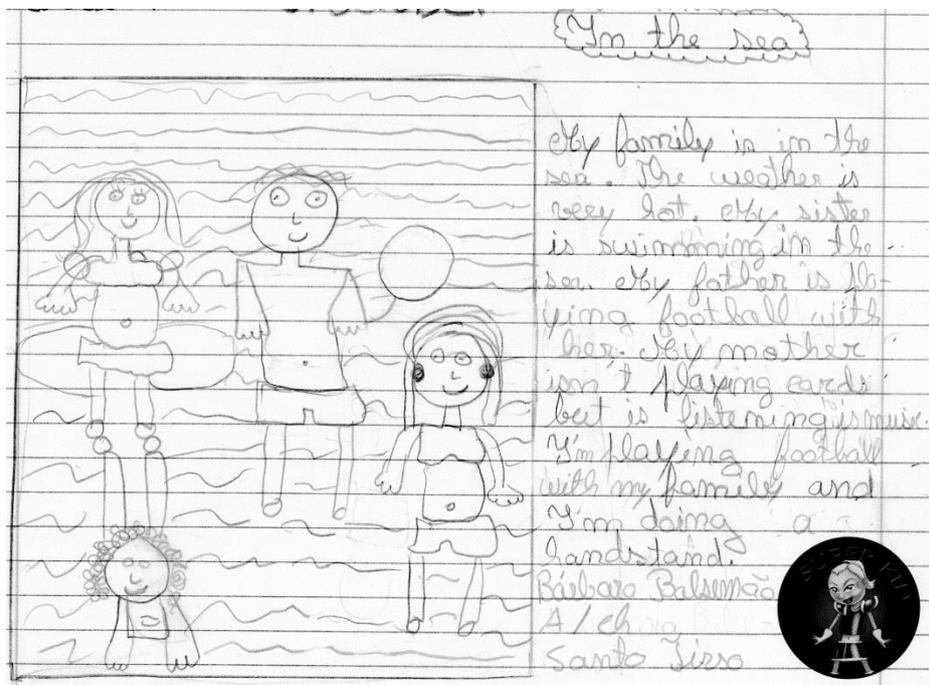

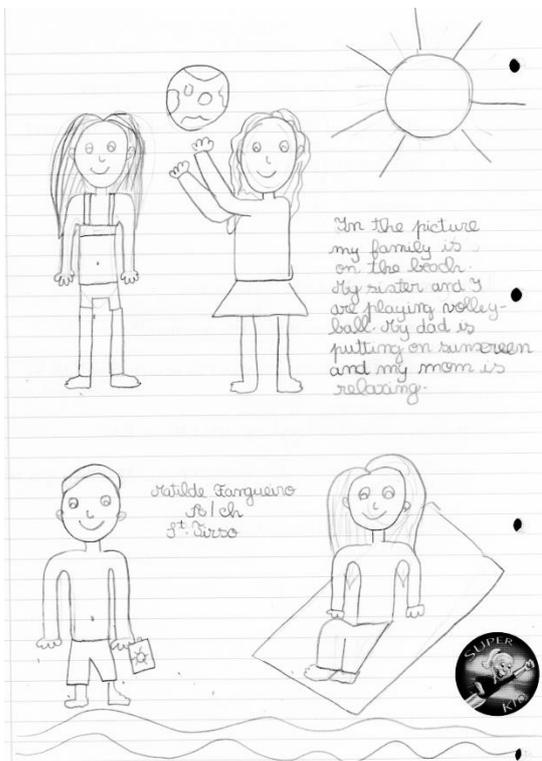

When I watch movies or TV shows, I tend to Forget my problems and the world around me. Also, it can teach me a lot, especially science fiction movies.

For those times that I feel like my life's very boring, I watch a movie. It helps every time because I immerse myself in a new reality and life, and it feels like it's my own.

It's also a great way to spend time with friends. Although there isn't much speaking, at the end we can all discuss theories about what happened and how we liked it.

I'd recommend this activity because it combines fun with learning new things.

There is no doubt that certain prisoners should be made to do unpaid community work instead of going to prison. However, not all prisoners should do it.

On the one hand, they could be very helpful for the community. Firstly, they could do works like cleaning the forests to prevent big fires. Secondly, they could help other people like distribute food to the homeless or things like that. In helping people they could change their way of thinking, being able to become better people and not commit crimes again.

On the other hand, some prisoners may have a malicious mind and take advantage to escape or commit other crimes. In conclusion, I believe that it is possible for prisoners to do community work instead of going to prison, but it must be taken into account the conduct, criminal background of each prisoner and evaluate his personality. And then realize if he is able or not to do the community work.

Dear Katie,
I am writing this letter because I would like to describe my city.
My city is fantastic, because there isn't much traffic. I hate traffic, because it's noisy.
In the area where I live, there is a fast food place where sometimes I go to with my dad. Here there are two post offices. My city is big. There is open space and this area is very quiet.
There is still a sweet shop where children go there to buy lots of candies with their parents.
In my city there is one bakery, two restaurants, one bog park, one train station and a bust stop, but there aren't any theatres or a cinema.
I hope you will enjoy my city and that you will come and visit me one day.
Kisses and love from
Ana Sofia

The invention of the Internet changed the world

There is no doubt that Internet is the largest and most versatile source of information and communication worldwide. Since its conception in 1973, the Internet has grown at an astounding rate, changing the world.

On the one hand, the Internet is a powerful tool for communicating with people in places all over the world, using social networking websites, such as Facebook, skype or more recently WhatsApp.

On the other hand, for many people the Internet is so enjoyable that it is almost addictive. As a result, some Internet users may develop an emotional attachment to online friends and virtual activities. Another important point is that people should use the Internet as a tool for communication in a reasonable way in order not to neglect other important activities.

In conclusion, the Internet is a powerful tool these days. People around the world are connected and this can represent an advantage in the evolution of knowledge and civilizations. However, we should bear in mind that spending quality time face-to-face with family and close friends is one of the most important things in life.
